ARRL Social Media and ARRL Field Day 2020

Social media plays an increasingly important role in how the world communicates, so it’s important we use these tools to communicate what ham radio is up to during our largest on-air event of the season. Help promote Amateur Radio and your club or group to the general public; you’ll find it very rewarding, in many ways.

Promoting your club’s Field Day effort just got even more rewarding! Using social media such as Facebook, Twitter, Instagram, LinkedIn, and YouTube can earn you a quick 100 points toward your Field Day score.

You can use social media to announce your Field Day site, invite the public, interact with elected officials or your local served agencies, post photos or videos of activities, blog about the Saturday night potluck, and much more.

To qualify for this bonus, you must be using this contact method frequently during your Field Day operation. Simply posting a single tweet on Twitter (something like “come join our Field Day event”) does not qualify. The intent is to have an ongoing, active presence on your chosen social media platform/s during your entire operation. For example, use the hashtag #ARRLFD and tag ARRL’s social media platforms when posting about your event.

Follow us!

Facebook: ARRL Field Day (Annual Event), @ARRL.org, @ARRLOTA

Twitter: @arrl, @w1aw, @arrl_ares

Instagram: @arrlhq

LinkedIn: ARRL, the national association for Amateur Radio

YouTube: ARRLHQ

Note that this bonus only applies to recognized social media. Simply having something on your club’s website about Field Day doesn’t qualify.

For more information on utilizing social media for ARRL Field Day, contact the Communications Department at socialmedia@arrl.org

Revised 2/2020