

Instructions for Downloading and Playing the ARRL PR-101 Course, Version 1

The files are compressed into a "zipped" folder.

The course is designed to run with Microsoft's Internet Explorer and look like a web page on your screen. It also runs well with Firefox.

You'll need to download the zipped file using a utility on your desktop such as WinZip or by obtaining a zip utility from the Internet. 7-Zip is one such utility that is a free download.

After using a file zip utility to unzip the course - !! Keep all the files together!! extract and save them in a separate subfolder on your computer.

Click on "autorun.exe" to hear the audio introduction.

To begin the course, double click on the file with the name "Index." That file is the entry key to all the others.

The course menu is to the left of your screen - just click on the button for the section you want.

When you are done going through the course, send an email to the ARRL Continuing Education Department at CEP@arrl.org to get the URL and password you'll need to take the final exam.
